Project

Academic Project

Farmer E-Digital Marketing

Develop an online marketplace using HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and React to empower farmers to directly sell their agricultural products online, enhancing their market reach and accessibility. resulting in increased market access and sales opportunities. Facilitated seamless transactions and enhanced the visibility of local agricultural products.

Weather App

Developed a responsive web application using HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and React to provide users with up-to-date weather information based on their location. Integrated a weather API (such as OpenWeatherMap or WeatherAPI) to retrieve real-time weather data. Implemented geolocation functionality to automatically detect and display weather information based on the user's current location. delivering real-time weather updates, fostering better user engagement and providing immediate access to weather details for specific locations.
